The biggest problem facing humanity is that at some point in time some humans believed myths and fairytales as real historical occurrences. This is the source of these religious indoctrinations. And as such, people will believe anything coming from the koran and bible. Yet the authors of the bible are unknown entites. We already know where the old testament stories were stolen from, the new testament is a fantastic fabrication. Its not surprising that people will assume the role of mythological figures like elisha, elijah, isaiah and the likes to portray as prophets and extort money from the weak, desparate and poor. How sad that this continues in sub-sahara africa. One solution will stern from economic development, access to better health care and equal opportunity for all based on hard work. When we have this in place, the idea that personal and national growth and well-being dependent upon some ethereal spirits in the sky (some god), will be eradicate. Hence critcal thinking and hardwork will take shape.
